INDIVIDUAL PERFORMANCE ASSESSMENT

Project Title:	Mary's Consulting – New Company Website	Date Prepared:	Dec 18, 2026

Team Member:	Bill	Role:	UX / Visual Designer
Period Covered:	May 8 – Dec 29, 2026	Assessed By:	Andrew (PM)

Overall Rating:	[ ] Exceeds Expectations [X] Meets Expectations [ ] Needs Improvement

Performance Summary

Bill produced the brand-quality visual design that underpinned the project's success and consistently met the WCAG 2.1 AA accessibility bar. Sponsor approval on the brand work came back faster than planned (LL-004), in large part because Bill presented in person with confidence. Strong collaboration with Christine on imagery and content alignment. One area of stress: Bill's unplanned medical leave Aug 10–14 (I-001) revealed a single-point dependency in design that we worked around but should structurally fix on future projects.

Key Contributions

- Designed brand visual system (color, typography, components, layouts) approved by sponsor.
- Information architecture that Sales Lead and Marketing Lead found intuitive.
- Accessibility-first component patterns that underpinned the WCAG 2.1 AA pass.
- Photography session direction for consultant headshots.

Demonstrated Strengths

- Sponsor-relationship instincts — knew when to present in person vs. async, which saved 3 days on design approval (LL-004).
- Accessibility expertise — partnered well with Bob on a11y component design; enabled the CI lint approach that prevented late audit findings.
- Brand judgment — defended the design system against scope creep during build phase.

Growth Areas / Development Recommendations

- Resilience to single-point dependency — the Aug leave (I-001) showed the team had no design redundancy. Recommend Bill document design decisions and asset libraries more proactively so the team can continue when Bill is unavailable.
- Pace of revision cycles — design feedback iterations were sometimes longer than the rest of the team needed. Recommend tighter timeboxing on individual revisions.

Recommendation for Future Assignments

Recommend for the next brand-driven firm project. Bill is a strong individual contributor who would benefit from working alongside a junior designer to build redundancy and mentor. Eligible for the $900 portion of the project completion bonus.